About Telling Tales

Telling Tales is a Canadian, not-for-profit organization committed to inspiring a love of reading and raising awareness of the importance of literacy in our communities. We do this by bringing Canadian authors, illustrators, musicians and storytellers together with their audiences: our children. Telling Tales develops, promotes and delivers literacy programming and participates in community events geared to children and youth, from newborns to age 16. Telling Tales is building a community of readers, writers and story-tellers with Canada's diverse communities including English, French and Aboriginal authors, artists, musicians and poets to engage even the most reluctant reader.
